SUPER

Occupational Rating Guide

Issued April 2020

Introduction

AMG Super's Insurance is provided through Hannover Life Re of Australasia Ltd (Hannover), a part of the Hannover Re Group, one of the world's largest reinsurers. The premiums paid by a member of AMG Super depends on factors such as age, gender, smoking status and occupation.

This occupational guide is provided by Hannover and can be used to ensure to allocate the correct occupation rating to your client when quoting premiums for insurance held through AMG Personal Super.

Category Descriptions

Professional	Professional white-collar occupations where the worker holds a tertiary qualification relevant to their occupation and is a member of a professional institute and earns a gross income of at least $100,000 per annum. They must be working in a sedentary capacity in an office environment with less than 20% of time spent outdoors. (e.g. solicitor, accountant and medical practitioner).
White Collar	Clerical, administration and managerial occupations involving office duties only. (e.g. office administrator, computer operator, bank clerk, consultant)
Light Blue Collar	Occupations mainly engaged in light manual duties in non-hazardous industries. This includes store workers, professionals with some fieldwork, persons who travel but do not deliver goods, and supervisors of manual work (e.g. retail and sales personnel, computer technicians, purchasing officer, coffee shop owner).
Blue Collar	Qualified tradespeople who perform a moderate amount of manual work (e.g. plumber, carpenter, nurse).
Heavy Blue Collar	Unskilled occupations performing manual work or skilled employees mainly performing heavy manual work (e.g. construction workers, factory workers, cleaners, labourers, delivery drivers, storemen, production workers and machine operators).
